Yale Prof Says Machines 'Think'

Prof. of psychology Donald W. Taylor, of Yale university, packed room S142 last night with an almost equal number of students and faculty. His lecture, titled "Psychological Studies of Thinking," was sponsored jointly by the SJS lecture committee and Sigma Xi, psychology society.

In discussing group problem solving in relation to solving of the same problem by an individual, Dr. Taylor remarked that "A group ought to do better than an individual solving a problem, simply because there are more people," hence more ideas.

For the past 10 years Dr. Taylor has engaged in psychological research on thinking—primarily, that relating to studies of human problem solving and studies of decision-making and creative thinking.

The Rhodes scholar and alumnus of Harvard devoted part of his lecture to the question, "Can computers think?"

He stated he would defend the stand that they can, providing a person accepts that creative thinking is that which produces novel and worthwhile ideas, and that computers have, recently, simulated some processes of human thinking.

"Computers have already, quite successfully, simulated some phases of the human thought process," Dr. Taylor said. He added that in some instances the computer program may even be said to be creative. "However," he went on, "some people yet claim that you can't get anything out of a computer that hasn't been put into it."

Stanford Scientist Electrocuted in Lab

One of the men who first reached the sun with radar impulses in 1959 was electrocuted late yesterday morning when he touched a 5000 volt high tension lead line at Stanford university's Ryan high voltage laboratory.

Dr. Phillip B. Gallagher, 38, Pleasant Hill rd., Redwood City, was pronounced dead at the Palo Alto-Stanford hospital after having touched the line which led to the machine which helped make him famous. He was one of the nation's leading authorities on Radio Astronomy.

If County Waits, Campus Shortage May Become Issue, Says Allen

By JIM JANSSEN

Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos) said Tuesday if Santa Clara county waits too long its shortage of college facilities may turn out to be a major political issue.

Elaborating on his recent suggestion to establish a branch campus for SJS, he said that he is not necessarily looking for a branch site but possibly a second state college in Santa Clara county.

His proposal for a branch campus was called premature by Vice Pres. William J. Dusel, who said that Allen's measure must first be approved by the state board of education.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said, however, that since SJS is cramped for space the college is eventually going to have to do something about it.

"It isn't good for the college to continue taking over the town," Assemblyman Allen commented.

LOOKING AHEAD

He added that he can't decide on his own to buy property and to establish a new state college, but it is his responsibility to start looking toward the future.

The noted psychologist countered this argument by offering the idea that "You can't get anything from a human 'thinker' that hasn't been put into it over a long period of heredity."

In 1951, Dr. Taylor remarked, a person asking the question "Can computers think?" was met usually with the answer, "No, they can't think. Computers are stupid." But in 1961, he said, the answer is not so simple. It is more complex and difficult to answer, and one of the most difficult things is to agree upon a definition of thinking.

In his studies of group thinking, Dr. Taylor said, he concluded that when working with the most creative groups, (writers, chemists) they all hold things of aesthetic value in highest esteem, while those of lower creative ability (electricians, chemists) showed a liking for laboratories.

Dr. Taylor is presently a Fellow of the American Psychological Assn. and Pierce college, and is a co-editor for the Dorsey series in psychology.

Night Fire Spreads; Hose Pressure Low

A fire hose without pressure hampered Thomas Homes, a custodian, 390 N. 21 st., from squelching a fire that razed a storeroom in Tower Hall last night.

Witnesses at the scene of the blaze gave the following account: At about 7:50 a girl reported smoke to Mr. Homes. Assisted by John Gorman, 1018 Essense ave., Sunnyvale, an industrial arts major, and another unidentified student, Mr. Homes grabbed a hose to put out the fire. Due to the lack of sufficient pressure the hose was useless. Mr. Homes then ran out and pulled a fire alarm.

According to Homes "the fire trucks were here in about half a minute." Engine co. No. 3 from Third and Martha sts., answered the call.

The basement was used as a Psychology testing lab for animals. An unidentified person assisting in the removal of the animals, was quoted as saying "we were lucky to get them out in time, in 10 more minutes all the valuable animals in our project would have been dead."

He said that the county's public schools now have 10,000 first graders. When they reach college age, he predicted, the youngsters will have no place to go unless the county expands its college facilities.

"It all boils down to the fact that unless we expand our facilities rapidly kids won't get to college," he said.

Governor Brown said that he believes the new Alameda state college will draw some of the area's college population, but the colleges in Santa Clara county are going to move along to a prominence they haven't seen before.

POSSIBLE BRANCH

Assemblyman Allen, in a letter last week to George Glendinning, chairman of the greater San Jose chamber of commerce committee, suggested that one of the sites turned down by the University of California be considered for a possible branch of SJS.

Bonfire 'Riot' Role Admitted By Students

Three of four students identified as taking part in the "riots" of Wednesday, April 5, admitted their guilt before the ASB Judiciary yesterday.

A fourth will appear before the student-faculty court Tuesday.

The three, all freshmen and dorm residents, were charged with violating the Student Code of conduct in adding, or trying to add, fuel to the bonfire that burned in the intersection of Tenth st. and San Salvador. They were part of a crowd of about 300 persons involved in the student demonstrations.

At the request of students and administration, the names of the three were withheld pending the Judiciary's recommendation and action by the college administration.

All three students denied being involved in the "riots" beyond adding small amounts of fuel to the fire. One claimed he did nothing more than climb a tree, and was prevented from breaking off branches for the bonfire.

Individually, they recounted some of the "riot" activity that they observed including the "funeral" for a fish attended by about 50 persons, the opening of a fire hydrant, setting off of a "carton" of firecrackers, and breaking off tree limbs.

Friday Flicks Sets Showing of 'Giant'

"Giant" will be shown by the senior class tonight at "Friday Flicks" in Morris Dailey auditorium at 7 o'clock, according to Rod Diridon, senior class president.

The movie stars Rock Hudson, James Dean, Chill Wills, Elizabeth Taylor and Sal Mineo.

It is a monumental picture of American life as lived by the members of a Texas family over a 30-year span. Rich with meaning below the surface, the movie has high action as three generations are changed by a sudden accumulation of wealth and power.

Stanford Professor To Discuss 'Castroism' for Pan-Am Day

Dr. Paul A. Baran, professor of economics at Stanford university, will discuss some of the possible adjustments Latin American coun-

Civil War Series On TV Tomorrow

"The Union Army's War Within a War," second of a four-part college-produced television series on the Civil War, will be viewed tomorrow on KNTV, Channel 11, at 11 a.m.

As part of the "Perspective" project, the series is carried from the studio on campus to KNTV by coaxial cable. Students in the Radio and TV curriculum handle the technical aspects of the series.

The Civil War Centennial programs were developed by Theodore C. Hinkle, assistant professor of history; Dr. Leo Kibby, professor of history, and Clyde Arbuckle, San Jose city historian.

Poland Donation Fund Ends Today

Donations to the Jefferson Poland fund drive, which ends today, totaled $50 when $14.54 was collected yesterday.

A collection booth in front of the cafeteria will be open today from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., announced Don Wood, a member of the Community Service committee which is sponsoring the drive. The drive is still $150 short of the announced goal of $200.

Poland, a former SJS sociology major, is in a Tallahassee jail serving a 60 day sentence for "disturbing the peace," at a downtown dime store.

The TASC member joined other Florida students in a sit in at the store lunch counter and the local police arrested him.

The lecture, entitled "The Impact of Castroism on United States-Latin American Relations," is part of the 17th annual SJS observation of Pan American Day. The observation of Pan American Day was begun to honor the first inter-American attempts at cooperation in 1890.

In that year, the First International conference of American States was held in Washington, D.C. The conference was designed to establish the groundwork for creation of a confederation of New World countries for defense and other purposes.

HOLIDAY IN LAOS

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Laotian soldiers took time out from war yesterday to celebrate the Laotian new year by dousing pretty girls with water.

Some royal army troops put aside their rifles and took up water-pistols together to join civilians in the happy-go-lucky celebrations that will last through Sunday.

No one appeared concerned about the struggle between the pro-Western government troops and the Communist-led rebel forces which might decide the fate of this tiny Southeast Asian kingdom.

RED AIRLIFT INCREASES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Russian arms airlift to the pro-Communist rebels in Laos has increased slightly, the State department reported yesterday.

State department spokesman Lincoln White said the increase has been noted "in the past few days."

CASTRO SECRETARY DEFECTS

HAVANA (UPI)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's top executive assistant and private secretary, Juan Orta, has broken with the Cuban leader and taken asylum in a Latin American embassy, reliable sources said yesterday.

Informants said the reason for Orta's break with Castro was his opposition to the placing of Cuba in the Soviet bloc of influence. However, other sources said that he had always supported Castro's foreign policies fully up to now.

KENNEDY REASSURES ADENAUER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy acted yesterday to allay any fears of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that allied efforts to work out a disarmament agreement with Russia would weaken the Western alliance.

Kennedy told Adenauer at a lengthy White House conference that he would keep him informed at every step on U.S. efforts to work out a new approach to the arms limitation and control program.

SENATE SHOWDOWN ON WAGE BILL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate began a showdown floor fight yesterday over President Kennedy's minimum wage proposals. Southern and Republican conservatives joined forces in an effort to trim the legislation.

The administration measure calls for boosting the minimum wage from $1 an hour to $1.25. Amendments were offered as soon as the bill was called up for debate.

HERO'S WELCOME FOR COSMONAUT

MOSCOW (UPI)—Maj. Yuri Gagarin, 27, who said yesterday that he ate, drank, made notes and floated in midair without ill effect during a period of weightlessness in his dramatic first flight into space, will be given the greatest hero's welcome in the history of Moscow today.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will interrupt his Black Sea vacation and fly back here at noon. Gagarin will arrive 45 minutes later to receive the tribute of Moscow's millions for his feat in successfully orbiting the earth in space Wednesday.

Group Agrees On Final Draft Of Amendment

The Publications Advisory committee, after meeting regularly for more than one semester, agreed yesterday on a final draft of an amendment to be added to the preface of the Spartan Daily Manual and Style Guide.

The change will provide for the possibility of policy in areas which need specific application to the campus situation.

The amendment says, in part: "It is one of the fundamental principles of the American system of government, as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the Constitution, that the press shall not be an organ of government."

NO ABRIDGEMENT

"The Student Council, the Journalism and Advertising department, and the college administration, neither jointly nor separately, shall make any law or policy abridging the freedom of the press, including the right of the Spartan Daily staff to collect information or report and publish on any subject, except as this freedom and right are legally limited."

Dr. Dwight Bentei, head of the Department of Journalism and Advertising and chairman of the committee, said yesterday in regard to the amendment, "This is the result of many weeks of effort on the part of the committee and the representatives. Everyone on the committee is very happy and I think it is a major achievement."

'FINE STATEMENT'

"A fine statement of journalistic philosophy for future Spartan Daily staff members to follow," commented Jim Ragsdale, editor. "The philosophy and goals are far-reaching—I think the rewards will reflect this attitude."

The measure is due to be forwarded to Pres. John T. Wahlquist for final approval.

ITV To Present Science Program On 'Seashore Life'

Frank C. Gale, associate professor of physical science, will explain the effects of air, temperature, light, salinity and wave action upon creatures living along the seashore. Narrator for the series is Robert Hassur, instructor in science education. Glen Pensing directs the productions.

Dr. Baran and Castro

Those interested enough to hear Dr. Paul Baran, Stanford professor of economics, when he speaks on campus this morning at 11:30 may discover some interesting bits of knowledge on the subject of Castro and Cuba.

Dr. Baran, who has demonstrated a certain facility for making headlines and stirring up blood pressures of conservatives and liberals alike, will speak on "The Impact of Castroism on United States-Latin American Relations."

Dr. Baran has made some interesting comments in the past regarding Cuba's revolutionary leader; some of which, it is hoped, he will elaborate upon this morning.

For example, Dr. Baran, in a speech last November, said he feared the U.S. would intervene in Cuba's affairs. The U.S. did this, he said, by "landing 10,000 Marines on the beaches of Cuba," or by promoting a "Free Cuba" invasion by arming Cuban exiles. Certainly there must be some adequate and rational answer as to why this "invasion" failed to materialize.

And what of the federal grand jury indictment against Rolando Masferrer and seven others for masterminding a military expedition against the Castro government in Cuba? Although Masferrer was at one time a Batista aide, the U. S. government has, in respect to Dr. Baran's statement, suddenly reversed policy. Why?

It is interesting to note that Dr. Baran's comments are founded on his experiences while touring Cuba last fall. His guide in Cuba was a man named Fidel Castro.

Dr. Baran has stated that about 15 per cent of the people in Cuba would oppose Castro if an election were called. It is possible that Castro is refraining from a "free" election until he is guaranteed 100 per cent support? President Kennedy won with a fraction over one half the votes.

The audience also may receive a few insights on the question of communism in Cuba. Dr. Baran has said Castro is not a communist, but he adds that some Cuban leaders may be influenced by "individual Communists." If this is the case, then is the U.S. needlessly concerned over this matter?

"Fidel Castro is one of the great men of this century," Dr. Baran is reported to have said. Perhaps the economics professor could throw some light on this statement by sizing Castro up to a few other "great men" of this century. J.M.R.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY

With tuition costs spiralling ever upward, more and more undergraduates are investigating the student loan plan. If you are one who is considering the "Learn Now, Pay Later" system, you would do well first to study the case of Leonid Sigafos.

Leonid, the son of an upholsterer in Stratiested Circumstances, Idaho, had his heart set on going to college, but his father, alas, could not afford to send him. Leonid applied for a Regents Scholarship, but his reading speed, alas, was not very rapid—two words an hour—and before he could finish the first page of his test the Regents had closed their brief cases crossly and gone home. Leonid then applied for an athletic scholarship, but he had, alas, only a single athletic skill—balancing a stick on his chin—and this, alas, aroused only passing enthusiasm among the coaches.

And then, huzzah, Leonid learned of the student loan plan: he could borrow money for his tuition and repay it in easy monthly installments after he left school!

Happily Leonid enrolled in the Southeastern Idaho College of Woodpulp and Restoration Drama and happily began a college career that grew more happy year by year. Indeed, it became altogether ecstatic in his senior year because Leonid met a coed named Salina T. Nem with hair like beaten gold and eyes like two squirts of Lake Louise. Love gripped them in its big moist palm and they were betrothed on the Eve of St. Agnes.

Happily they made plans to be married the day after commencement—plans, alas, that never were to come to fruition because Leonid, alas, learned that Salina, like himself, was in college on a student loan, which meant that he had not only to repay his own loan when he left school but also Salina's, and the job, alas, that was waiting for Leonid after graduation at the Boise Raccoon Works simply did not pay enough, alas, to cover both their loans, plus rent and food and clothing.

Sick at heart, Leonid and Salina sat down and lit Marlboro Cigarettes and tried to find an answer to their problem—and, sure enough, they did! I do not know whether or not Marlboro Cigarettes helped them find an answer; all I know is that Marlboros taste good and look good, and when things close in and a feller needs a friend and the world is black as the pit from pole to pole, it is a heap of comfort and satisfaction to be sure that Marlboros will always provide the same unflinching pleasure, the same unstinting quality, in all times and climes and conditions. That's all I know.

Leonid and Salina, I say, did find an answer—a very simple one. If their student loans did not come due until they left school, why, then they just wouldn't leave school! So after receiving their bachelor degrees, they re-enrolled and took masters degrees. After that they took doctors degrees, loads and loads of them, until today Leonid and Salina, both aged 78, both still in school, hold doctorates in Philosophy, Humane Letters, Jurisprudence, Veterinary Medicine, Civil Engineering, Optometry, and Dewey Decimals. Their student loans, as of last January 1, amounted to a combined total of eighteen million dollars, a sum which they probably would have found great difficulty in repaying had not the Department of the Interior recently declared them a National Park.

You don't need a student loan—just a little loose change—to grab yourself a new kind of smoking pleasure from the makers of Marlboro—the unfiltered king-size Philip Morris Commander. Welcome aboard!

'Picture Mistake! SJS More Dignified'

EDITOR—On page one of the April 10 issue of the Spartan Daily there appeared a picture of some 25 college students with the caption "We Want Panties." You obviously have erred and printed the wrong caption with the wrong picture. Mature college students, especially of the SJS caliber, don't do things like stand outside dorm windows and shout for panties. This isn't preparing for the future as world leaders—this isn't dignified—this isn't even collegiate. The students in the picture obviously were doing something important like protecting their freedoms by protesting against the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The person appearing at the window is Mr. Walters (chairman HCUA) and the material object being hoisted into the air above their heads is a home made American flag . . . or, if this isn't the case, the students are holding a fund raising rally for Jeff Poland. However, you can be sure that whatever they're doing, it's more important—more worthy—more American, than the mere collecting of panties.

Chivalry is Dead! Why? Gals Killed It

EDITOR—That poor, young, sweet, helpless, little woman. No male would lug her heavy suitcase around for her. Did she ever stop to consider the reasons why no chivalrous male would help her?

The United States is slowly evolving from a masculine society to a society which is being dominated by women. Women control most of the money in the U.S. There is a greater percentage of women than men in the U.S. Women drive cabs, buses, and trucks. Women wrestle in arenas. Women act as referees at sporting events. Women have invaded fields formerly restricted only to males.

Women today exert their wish to behave and act like men.

How many women do you see today wearing short haircuts, men's jeans and jackets? How many quiet, demure, young ladies do you see attending SJS? You see a loud, noisy, brassy generation of emancipated females. It is not uncommon to hear women using profane language that would make even a grizzled old sailor blush.

In Europe, no doubt, masculine superiority has not degenerated as much as in our feminine society, which is the reason why women receive such chivalrous treatment over there. Chivalry is dead. Women killed it. A woman can't have equal rights and still be expected to be treated as a demure, sweet, shy, young, helpless creature.

Why Should College Pranks Be Excepted?

EDITOR—The recent outbreak of street dances, panty raids, bonfires, etc., is the result of immature and irrational students. That they have damaged the reputation of SJS cannot be denied.

These actions must really be frustrating to the placement officials attempting to find work for SJS students and graduates; the administration will not find it any easier to attract qualified instructors; the legislators seeking university status for SJS will shake their heads in despair.

I, for one, think the recent get-tough policy the police have taken is prudent. Yes, a police record will damage a college student's chances. But what is so sacred about a college student? Why should his adolescent "pranks" be overlooked? A high school graduate working his way into a good position without going to college is not given any special consideration by police!

Here is a tip for any student charged with participating in a "prank." Legally, you are innocent. A psychiatric examination will definitely show you cannot distinguish between right and wrong.

Children Love Dramatization Of 'Beauty and the Beast'

By RICHARD DYER
Drama Editor

"Beauty and the Beast," the Speech and Drama department's production of Nora MacAlvay's fantasy, offered little more than 90 minutes of amusing nonsense when it opened yesterday before a packed house of noisy but appreciative children in Studio Theater.

Designed primarily for children of the community, the play moved at a fast-enough clip to prevent the kiddies from becoming restless. As in the case of most fairy tales, this one was pure corn and the children loved it.

Set in a mythical kingdom, the play concerns a handsome young prince about to be crowned king who is turned into a hideous beast by a crafty magician. The spell can only be broken if the prince can claim a queen by midnight of his coronation eve. If unable to do so, the prince must die.

HAPLESS PRINCE

H. Donald Funk portrayed the hapless prince in rather colorless fashion. Lane Hecker, as Beauty, was passable as the maiden who finds herself attracted to the grotesque nobleman.

Robert Browning was adequate as the magician but tended to overplay the part. Bonda Lewis was convincing as his conniving daughter, who fancies herself as the next queen. Both Browning and Miss Lewis appear for the most part disguised as a couple of mischievous green apes in order to keep tabs on the victim prince.

Sandra Emery and Wintersteen were good as Beauty's selfish sisters but didn't have enough to say. Cecelia Winokur as the concerned queen mother, and Delray Franks as the girls' merchant father provided bland support.

CO-DIRECTORS

The production is being co-directed by John R. Kerr, associate professor of drama, and Peter Nyberg, drama student, who is also in charge of the settings.

A matinee will be held today at 4 p.m. in Studio Theater. The play will also be presented tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. There will be no evening performances.

Reserved tickets are on sale at the College Theater box office at Fifth and E. San Fernando sts. from 1-5 p.m. daily. Phone number is CY 4-6414. Admission is 50 cents.

MUSICAL LEAD—Carole Warren, SJS junior, plays lead role in "South Pacific" tomorrow. (See story on right.)

SJS Coed Plays Lead Role In 'South Pacific' Musical

Carole Warren, who played a leading role in the campus production of "Right You Are," is starring in the San Jose Light Opera assn's presentation of "South Pacific" tomorrow, 8:30 p.m., in the Montgomery theater of the Civic auditorium.

The brown-haired coed also will appear in the musical show April 21 and April 22.

CAST OF 60

"The cast of 60 is the biggest extravaganza attempted by the organization," Miss Warren said. It is directed by Leslie Abbot.

Miss Warren portrays an American navy nurse from Little Rock, Ark., Nellie Forbush, who becomes entranced with exiled French planter, Emile de Becque (Richard Hoover), on a small island where she is stationed.

SECONDARY PLOT

Woven throughout this plot is a secondary love story of a young naval lieutenant, Joseph Cable (John Montgomery, former SJS student), whose highly cultivated race prejudice prevents his marriage to a young girl he adores.

George Costa, former SJS drama major, designed the costumes and sets.

One of the main production problems occurs when "Nellie" washes her hair.

STAGE PROBLEM

"I cut my hair for the role but I still have a problem drying and arranging it for the rest of the show," she pointed out.

NEW VERSION

Robert Madsen, instructor in music, is staging "Coffee Cantata," in a new English version by Dr. Dunning.

Introduced by tenor James MacDonald in narrative recitative, the cantata concerns the habit of Lisa (Yvonne Tomasena or Diane Sutton) of drinking coffee.

Dr. Johnson Receives One-Year Study Grant

Dr. Ronald G. Johnson, associate professor of psychology, has been awarded a one-year $2070 study grant by the National Institute of Health, under jurisdiction of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Johnson's grant was awarded to enable him to continue his study of personal factors as related to differences in associative production.

VERBAL REACTIONS

In explaining his work, Dr. Johnson said that there is an average number of verbal reactions within a specified time limit from people who are confronted with a particular word.

"These words are divided into two categories," he said, "unpleasant and pleasant words." He added that an unpleasant word would be prosper or jewel, while pleasant words are those such as typhoon or dismal.

Dr. Johnson indicated that so far in his study, he has found that pleasant words provoke more reaction than unpleasant words.

PERSONALITY FACTOR

"Another important factor involved in this project is the effect of personality variables related to the ratio of association to unpleasant vs. pleasant words.

Dr. Johnson stated that he will probably conclude his work within the year, but that "I might get interested in something else in connection with this project."

Dr. Johnson's grant is subject to a 15 per cent over-ride. The college receives 15 per cent of the grant for research grants issued to SJS faculty and students.

Motorcade Will Leave To Hear Canon Green

A Christian center-sponsored motorcade will travel to Modesto April 17-25 to hear the nightly mission services of Canon Bryan Green, according to Carina Shepperson, project chairman.

All students interested in attending should contact Miss Shepperson at CYpress 5-9805 to make transportation arrangements. The motorcade will leave from San Jose at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Canon Green, former chaplain at Oxford university, will speak on "What's Wrong With the World?" "Finding a Personal Faith," "Reasons for Believing Christ Is God," "Why I Can't Believe?" and "Is Religion Escapism?" among other topics.

The renowned churchman, who is currently rector of St. Martins cathedral in Birmingham, Eng., presented a series of lectures and informal discussion groups at SJS last fall under the auspices of the College Religious council.

Canon Green is appearing at the Modesto First Christian church, 1320 L st., under the auspices of the Modesto Council of churches.

A 7:30 p.m. community singing and question period will proceed the nightly services.

World War III???

Foot Soldier Still Top 'Weapon'; Will Never Become Obsolete

By RICHARD DYER

Man — not missiles or chemical agents — will be the "ultimate weapon" of World War III.

According to Admiral Arleigh Burke, Chief of Naval Operations, the basic element of military capability is man alone. "No matter what machines, what weapons evolve, they will be a product of man. Man will maintain them, and above all, man must control them."

Even in a nuclear war, the foot soldier is essential in the occupation of territory won by the victor. The 1961 Army Blue Book states that "a decisive victory . . . requires the presence of man" and "the infantry, just as it has been in past wars, is still the 'Queen of Battle'."

FOOT SOLDIER OBSOLETE?

The foot soldier will never become obsolete, in the opinion of Lieut. Col. Edwin T. Rios, SJS ROTC head. "The only time we ever stopped communism was when we put a man on the ground," he asserted.

The U.S. is not alone in placing a high value on the infantryman. Soviet Russia concentrates intensively on well-trained manpower.

Whether from the farm or city, the Soviet soldier is physically hardy and well-acustomed to privations, according to Lieut. Col. T. S. Staiger, Deputy Chief, U.S. Military Liaison.

"His background of hard work, simple life, and political indoctrination makes him easily adaptable to the most rigorous conditions and discipline of military training," he said.

"Although the average Soviet draftee does not have a mechanical background equal to that of the American inductee, intensive military training programs tend to overcome this handicap." Col. Staiger pointed out that the Russian soldier spends three years of training which includes winter and summer field firing and tactical exercises.

U.S. 'AT WAR'

Most Americans do not understand that the U.S. is actually at war now. In an address to the Senate subcommittee on Defense Preparedness on Jan. 6, 1958, Admiral Hyman Rickover stated that citizens need to hear the firing of shells in order to wake up to this fact. "They are not psychologically prepared for the concept that you can have a war when you don't have actual fighting," he declared.

Our nation is now in a period of "mortal danger," contends Rear Admiral Fitzhugh Lee, Chief of Naval Air Technical Training. "If our civilization is to survive, there must be a spiritual renaissance . . . in every home and school room, every heart, mind and conscience in this country."

"We must stop merely giving lip service to our ideals and start living them again. We must challenge and eliminate every unwholesome influence which threatens to destroy us."

Weapon systems do not alone constitute the total sum of our needs, states Lt. Gen. Robert M. Lee, Vice Commander, Air Defense Command. "We also must have continued aggressive research and development, a strong industrial base . . . and, most important, patriotically motivated and well-trained people."

JOB FOR AMERICANS

"This is not a one man job," continued Admiral Burke. It is a challenge to 170 million Americans. It is a job for you and for me, for your children, and your children's children, for as long as they live, they will live in competition."

Earlier this month, President Kennedy delivered a special defense message to Congress. He summed up the reasoning behind our heavy reliance on a powerful retaliatory force:

"The primary purpose of our arms is peace, not war. To make certain that they will never have to be used; to deter all wars, general or limited, nuclear or conventional, large or small; to convince all potential aggressors that any attack would be futile . . ."

The possibility of a nuclear war today is considered by most U.S. military leaders extremely remote — for one basic reason. It would be the end of civilization as we know it.

The Army Blue Book puts it this way: "The mutual destruction of mankind by all-out atomic attacks and counter-attacks would not be mankind by all-out atomic attacks Judgment."

SC Broncs Spoil Frosh Bid For First League Victory

The Santa Clara freshman baseball team, using star football and basketball players whom they have successfully converted into baseball players, manhandled the SJS frosh nine to the tune of 10-4 yesterday afternoon and spoiled the Spartababes' bid for their first league victory.

After the Spartans jumped to a 4-2 lead in the third inning, Santa Clara turned loose basketball nemesis Bob Garibaldi, who now displays his talents from the pitcher's mound. Garibaldi has learned the game of baseball well, as he stopped the Spartans cold and allowed only one hit from then on.

SJS learned that much heralded Ron Calcagno, who runs the Bronco football team in the fall, also does a very effective job running the frosh baseballers from behind the plate.

Spartans, Mustangs Open 3-Game Set At Municipal At 7

Dave Turnbull, San Jose State's stellar pitching ace, will be out to turn in a repeat performance tonight when he takes the mound against Cal Poly in a Municipal stadium encounter that gets underway at 7.

Turnbull, who owns five of San Jose's nine season victories, turned back the Mustangs to record his—and his team's—first win of the campaign when he throttled the southerners on four hits in a 7-1 SJS triumph.

The Mustangs bounced back against other Spartan hurlers, however, scoring a double win the next day, 7-6 and 11-10.

Tonight's contest flips the lid on another three-game set as the teams meet again tomorrow afternoon (12 noon) in a doubleheader.

Coach Ed Sobczak has nominated right-hander Bob Maytorena and lefty Jim Wilson to hurl in the twin bill.

The Spartans, with a 9-18 record tagged to them, may not look like much, but most of the losses came early in the season. They have won six times in their last seven engagements. Their 7-3 loss to Stanford Tuesday night broke a six-game win skein that had produced six consecutive complete mound efforts by Sobczak's pitching corps.

State leads WCAC play with three triumphs against one defeat.

Cal Poly is in fifth place in the California Collegiate conference, led by Fresno State's Bulldogs. Poly has a loop record of 2-4. On the whole season the Mustangs have won 11, lost 12.

For State, Turnbull's quintet of victories are unapproached by the team's other hurlers. Joel Guthrie, Bob Woods, Maytorena and Wilson have one win apiece, all of them coming during the SJS victory string leading up to the Stanford contest.

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE—he flies through the air. Warren Minami prepares for a short flight into space. Tossing him into orbit is fellow SJS judoist, Gilbert Saiki. The Spartans will be competing in tonight's and tomorrow's judo action at the Men's gym, scene of the Ninth Annual AAU Judo Championships, getting under way at 7 tonight.

row's judo action at the Men's gym, scene of the Ninth Annual AAU Judo Championships, getting under way at 7 tonight.

AAU Judo Tourney Opens in SJS Gym 12 State Entries

San Jose State becomes the United States—maybe the world—judo capitol tonight and tomorrow when the Ninth Annual AAU Judo Championships are held in Spartan gym. Tonight's action gets under way at 7.

Regional champions from virtually every part of the USA and from each of the armed services will compete for national honors, with more than 150 top flight entries expected to compete.

Representing San Jose State are: Jim Baker, Lee Parr, Warren Minami, Walt Dabel, Gilbert Saiki, Dave Sawyer, Dexter O'Day, Allan Filice, Roy Kimura, Tom Liston, Nozomu Iwasaki and Greg Weaver. The Spartans are coached by tournament director Yosh Uehida.

Contestants will be competing for individual honors in respective weight classes. The region placing the most men wins the regional championship.

Weight classes are divided into four groups: under 140 pounds; under 160 pounds; under 180 pounds; and unlimited.

Elimination of contestants will be under a black point system. A contestant winning a full point gets no black marks; if he wins by decision (the match goes the full 10 minutes without a full point scored), one black mark.

If the contestant loses by decision, he receives two black marks and if he loses by a full point he gets three black marks. Five marks eliminate a contestant. This system encourages all-out competition, judoists trying for full point rather than decision victories.

The one point necessary to win may be gained in any one of four ways: 1) execution of a throw; 2) mat hold for 30 seconds; 3) a choke hold; 4) a joint lock usually applied to the elbow.

This year's tourney takes on added lustre due to the fact that judo will become an official Olympic sport in the 1964 Games. Winners in this and subsequent tournaments will have a strong chance to become an Olympic member.

Judo was first recognized by the AAU as a sport in 1950. Since that time it has been one of the fastest growing sports in the U.S. and Europe. Its admittance into the Melbourne Olympics in 1956 as a "guest sport" was a milestone in its climb to popularity.

Since its development in Tokyo coincides with the fact that the 1964 Games will be held there, Tokyo is considered the best possible place to introduce judo as an Olympic sport.

IFC Swimming Meet Starts Tomorrow

The Greeks hit the water tomorrow as the annual intramural fraternity swimming meet begins under the guidance of intramurals director Dan Glines.

Glines indicated that the preliminary heats begin at 9 a.m., while the finals wind things up at 2 p.m.

Fraternity softball begins next Tuesday, while independent softball gets under way on Monday, April 24.

Final Home Meet Tomorrow; Poynter's Debut Postponed

Although the return of "Bullet" Bob Poynter has given the SJS track team a needed late season boost, his presence won't be in evidence tomorrow at the all-service meet.

Saturday's 1 p.m. meet marks the final 1961 home appearance for the Spartans before going on the road for the big ones.

Poynter, a 9.4 sprinter ineligible most of the season, will probably be held from competition until the Fresno State match next week. Poynter has been training and should not be too far from mid-season form.

The service stars, though not presenting the same caliber competition San Jose will be facing in the near future, do have several ex-collegiate spikers with a nationwide reputation.

Among the best is one time Bear and sub-four minute miler, Don Bowden. Bowden was NCAA champ while at the Berkeley campus.

Joining Bowden are a pair of top discus throwers from Fort Ord. Jay Sylvester from Utah State and Jack Egan, a USC graduate, should give San Jose's Harry Edwards and Dan Studney the stiffest competition they have faced this year. Sylvester brings a 183-6 3/4 throw into the meet, ten feet better than Studney's best.

Dick Brooks, who holds the SJS record in the javelin, returns to complete what should be a rough day for Dan Studney. Studney, only a sophomore, could easily be the next record holder, but Saturday Studney will be facing men who have already reached the peak of the capabilities.

Three .09-8 century men from Vandenberg Missile center come to San Jose to encounter the likes of Dennis Johnson and Willie Williams.

Vandenberg will send a 3:22 mile relay team and a pair of 49.1 quarter mile representatives in Bobby Sutton and Jas Foster.

With the Modesto relays and the national meet not far off, Bud Winter will be experimenting tomorrow afternoon. Who does what when it counts could be decided against the service stars.

Statistics Show John Jurivich Best Hitter; Team Mark .224

San Jose State's Spartan baseballers have had to say it with pitching for the most part during the 1961 campaign.

Statistics for the first 27 Spartan contests — of which they won nine — reveal that SJS has been somewhat inept on the attack, putting together a paltry team batting credential of .224. And it might be lower than that if it were not for the yeoman efforts of outfielder John Jurivich.

Jurivich, the rangy gardener, has smashed out 32 hits in 77 trips to the plate, posting a .416 bat mark that far outdistances his nearest competitor. Jurivich also paces the team in RBIs with 16 and in triples with five. The Spartans have hit but three home runs on the season; Jurivich has one of them.

Lead-off man Doug McChesney, though he hasn't hit for an average, leads the club in walks with 29 and stolen bases, 16. McChesney paces SJS in runs with 22.

Dave Turnbull, besides having a lock on the pitching honors, is the second most prolific Spartan hitter with a .327 average. Turnbull has 18 hits in 55 at bats, including two triples.

His pitching has been sensational. He leads the hurlers in: games won (5); ERA (2.52); strikeouts (51); games started (8); games completed (8).

Outfielder Jim Pusateri, a disappointing .213 hitter, leads the team in plate appearances with 89.

Larry Bachi is the third most consistent Spartan hitter with a .289 mark. Bob Pimentel, despite a .227 average, is second to Jurivich in RBIs with 11. Larry Tognolini is third with 10, while topping the team in doubles with five.

Spartan Golfers Face UOP Today

The varsity golf team, sporting a fine 6-1 record on the season, will tangle with the University of Pacific and the San Diego Marines this afternoon at 1:15 on the San Jose country club fairways.

SJS has already defeated UOP earlier in the year in a match at Stockton. The match is the second triangular encounter for the Spartans on the season, the previous one having been with UOP and Chico State.

All eyes will be on Johnny Lotz, the SJS sophomore whiz, as the young phenom undoubtedly will be trying to break the school record of 64 which he holds along with Ken Venturi and Jay Hupkins.

All Students Welcome

Dr. Edwin McClintock, professor of mathematics at the University of Illinois, is an advocate of the electronic computer, designed to lead a student from ignorance to mastery of a subject at his own speed.

"It combines the best of the teaching machines, the best of the computers, and the best of the student-teacher relationship," Dr. McClintock said recently.

"We have not yet begun to apply our technological advances to the learning process, and it is time we did," he added.

Just as strong an opposing viewpoint of the machine has been voiced by Dr. Norbert Weiner, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology mathematician.

"When we build a learning machine, we make a machine whose full consequences we cannot be aware of," the scientist said.

MAY THREATEN MAN

"A machine capable of learning and teaching is a machine which might conceivably threaten man," Dr. Weiner warned. "It is possible that under certain circumstances machines would change our environment so swiftly and so completely that we would be in a fix," Dr. Weiner added pessimistically.

Here is how the controversial machine would work:

A program of instruction, in mathematics, for instance, would be broken down into small bits of knowledge designed to lead the student from ignorance to mastery of the subject during his own leisure time. This is the main idea of the so-called teaching machine, according to Dr. McClintock.

STUDENT 'PLUGGED' IN

The student would then be "plugged" into the teaching machine by attaching a device, similar to a lie detector, to his arm.

Material would be presented to the student on one of several viewing screens. On another screen, a professor would be seen as he discusses the material, with his voice coming from a recorded tape.

The device on the student's arm would indicate whether or not he was comprehending the information. If the student was becoming flustered, the machine would instruct him to relax for a short period of time to ease the tension and accelerate the learning speed.

One of the advantages is that it would give professors more time for individual work with students by reducing the number of hours of weekly lectures.

"A professor normally gives the same lecture two to six times a week," Dr. McClintock said. "The machine would cut down these hours and permit a better student-teacher relationship. If we can perfect this idea, that relationship can be better than ever before."

NEW AUTO INSURANCE SAVINGS ANNOUNCED

Savings up to $120 on automobile insurance are now common for married men under 25 years of age with the California Casualty Indemnity Exchange.

"Married men in this age bracket are generally paying excessive premiums for the degree of risk involved," says George M. Campbell, Spartan Representative for the Exchange.

"We believe that a married man with family responsibilities is a more careful driver, and causes fewer accidents," said Campbell. "Therefore, he is entitled to rates for mature drivers."

For example: A married man, age 22, with Bodily Injury Liability $10/20,000, Property Damage $5,000 and Medical $500 pays about $157 a year with most insurance companies. With California Casualty he would pay about $80 less $16 dividend, or a net of $64 (based on current 20 per cent dividend). Thus he saves about $93 with the Exchange. (Other coverages with comparable savings).

Campbell declared that even unmarried men and women with good driving records may save over 20 per cent.

Call or write for full information to George M. Campbell, 566 Maple Ave., Sunnyvale, Regent 9-1741 (day & night).

Theologian To Review Idea: 'Need for Religion Reformation'

Stressing his belief in the need for reformation of religion within the scientific cosmology, Dr. J. Wesley Robb, chairman of the Department of Religion at the University of Southern California, will present a talk Sunday entitled "Religious Faith and the Scientific Revolution."

Dr. Robb's talk, which is being sponsored by the Protestant Ecumenical council as the second in its Frontier Forum series, will be given at 7:30 p.m. in St. Paul's Methodist church, 405 S. 10th st.

The council, which consists of the American Baptist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist and United Christian campus ministries, was active in the sponsoring of Canon Bryan Green in October.

ACQUIRING POST

Prior to acquiring his post as head of the USC Department of Religion, Dr. Robb was a professor of philosophy and religion at Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa. In 1951, he was granted a fellowship from the Ford Foundation to continue his study in the field of the philosophy of religion.

A contributor to numerous nation and professional journals, the theologian has also authored the book, "An Inquiry into Faith."

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: In college, it isn't who you know that counts—it's whom.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have a confession. All my life I have been trying to learn how to whistle. I just can't. Please, will you tell me how to whistle?

Puckered

DEAR PUCKERED: Watch the birds. Notice how they gather a pocket of air deep within the breast, then push thin jets of this air into the throat, through the larynx, up and around the curled tongue, and then bounce the air from the roof of the mouth out through the teeth (which act like the keyboard on a piano). Practice this. In no time your friends will be amazed at the beautiful, warbly trills that flow from your beak.

Dear Dr. Frood: I just can't seem to get in step with the rest of the students here. They enjoy parties, dancing, folk singing and dating. None of these things interest me at all. Am I behind the times or what?

Left Out

DEAR LEFT: You're in the right times; you're just one of our squares.

Dear Dr. Frood: What do you think accounts for the fact that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular?

Marketing Student

DEAR MS: Collegiate Lucky smokers.
